

Name	THE CHANGING INVESTMENT PREFERENCES OF INDIAN HOUSEHOLDS
Authors	Dr. L. C. Gupta and Naveen Jain
Year	2008

CONTENTS

1. INTRODUCTION

Understanding the investors' preferences and problems
Methodology and sampling
A ticklish problem
Check on data reliability and consistency
Chapter scheme

2. INDIAN HOUSEHOLDS' INVESTMENT PREFERENCES: AN OVERVIEW

The general pattern of investor's preferences
High consistency and reliability of the findings
Owning shares vs. mutual funds
What future intentions tell us
Allocating a "notional sum"
Share investment vis-à-vis all other investments
Other indicators of interest in share investment
Speculation versus Investment

3. GOLD AS AN INVESTMENT OPTION

Why Gold Exchange-Traded Fund?
Exploring investor's response to Gold ETF
The future of Gold ETF

4. HOUSEHOLD INVESTORS' PREFERENCES AMONG VARIOUS TYPES OF MUTUAL FUND SCHEMES

Types of mutual fund schemes
Popularity of schemes: survey findings
Analysis by income-class and age-class

5. HOUSEHOLD INVESTORS' PRACTICES REGARDING DIVERSIFICATION OF SHARE PORTFOLIOS

Measure of diversification

Beginners begin with undiversified portfolio

Moderate diversification very popular

Portfolios of over 10 companies are rarer

Reasons behind moderate diversification

Practical considerations

Theoretical support for moderate diversification

Concluding comments

6. INVESTORS' PRACTICES REGARDING DIVERSIFICATION AMONG MUTUAL FUND SCHEMES

Some peculiarities of mutual funds

Empirical data

Relationship to income level

Indirect way of very wide diversification

Mutual funds vs. direct shareholding

Direct investing not suitable for everybody

Mixed approach

7. HOUSEHOLD INVESTORS' WORRIES ABOUT STOCK MARKET

Identifying investors' greatest worries

Most widely felt problems

"Naked trading" adds to volatility

Other worries

Income and age-wise analysis

Usefulness for policy and regulatory purposes

8. REGULATING THE IPO MARKET

IPOs are too much hyped in India

The IPO market's ailment

SEBI's decision to make grading compulsory

Main features of SEBI's scheme

Main criticism

How IPO grading differs from credit rating

Need for more disclosure about the grade awarded

Making IPO market a cleaner place

9. CAPITAL MARKET REGULATION IN INDIA:
ITS OVER-ALL QUALITY

Investors' feed-back

Mostly good

The past and the present

Trading system overhauled

Stock exchanges demutualised

Regulation tightened