

Name	INDIAN HOUSEHOLDS' INVESTMENT PREFERENCES
Authors	Dr. L. C. Gupta, C.P. Gupta, Naveen Jain
Year	2001

CONTENTS

1. OBJECT AND SCHEME OF STUDY
 Object of study
 Chapter scheme
2. HOW RETAIL INVESTORS VIEW BOND INVESTMENT
 Introduction
 Main findings
 Comparison among bond categories
 Investment intentions
 Market penetration
 Income-classwise analysis
 Market for private corporate bonds
 Bond safety versus liquidity
 Macro policies towards bond market
 Yield curve
 Chakravarty Committee
 Government bonds to be retailed
 Mutual debt schemes
 Final comments
3. WHY INVESTORS ARE DISENCHANTED WITH PRIVATE-SECTOR BONDS?
 Investors' feed-back
 Bond defaults
 A worsening situation

4. BONDS VS. SHARES AND OTHER INVESTMENT TYPES
 - Bonds at the lowest end
 - Differences among income-classes
 - Allocations to various investments
 - Special importance of DFI bonds
 - Changed attitudes towards shares
 - Concluding comments
5. THE WEAK INFLUENCE OF CREDIT RATING IN INDIA
 - Most investors don't know credit rating
 - Influence of credit rating on investors
 - Concluding comments
6. RETAIL INVESTORS' PREFERENCES AMONG BOND SCHEMES
 - Zero-coupon vs. regular income bonds
 - Desired periodicity of interest payment
 - Other bond schemes
 - Maturity preference of retail investors
 - Bond market too fragmented
- 7 DIVERSIFICATION OF RETAIL INVESTORS' BOND AND SHARE PORTFOLIOS
 - Bond portfolios
 - Share portfolios
 - The change during 1990-97
- 8 GEOGRAPHIC DISTRIBUTION OF BONDOWNERS, SHAREOWNERS AND UTI UNITHOLDERS
 - Geographic spread of bondholders and shareholders
 - Spread of UTI unitholders
 - India-USA comparison
 - Investing in shares and bonds still an urban phenomenon
 - Methodology and sampling for analyzing the geographic distribution of the IDBI bondholders
- 9 THE NUMBER OF SHAREOWNERS AND BONDOWNERS IN INDIA
 - Shareowners' population
 - Historical growth
 - Two methods used
 - Bondowners' population

10

A SOCIO-ECONOMIC ANGLE

Introduction

Erosion of investors' confidence

Causes behind such erosion

Need for reviewing tax concessions

Several policy issues involved

Concluding observations