

Name	STOCK EXCHANGE TRADING IN INDIA
Authors	Dr. L. C. Gupta
Year	1992

CONTENTS

PART ONE

1. EFFECTS OF EXCESSIVE SPECULATION:
AN EMPIRICAL ENQUIRY

Introduction
Volume of Speculation
Evidence of excessive speculation
Measurement technique
Empirical results
Investor-to-investor share transfers
Extremely short-term nature of Speculative transactions
Effects on price
Who the speculative operators are
Conclusion

2. INVESTORS' PROBLEMS: STARTING POINT FOR REFORMS

Shortage of recognized brokers
Complaints of unfair dealing
Undue delays in payment/delivery
Bad deliveries
Spot delivery vs. fortnightly settlement
Inter-market transactions

3. FLOORLESS TRADING N SECURITIES:
WHY ESSENTIAL?

Introduction
Why floorless trading system

Sub-brokers: not the right solution
Correct solution
Liberalisation and competition
Advantages of floorless system

OTCEI and the proposed NSE in India
Licensing of securities dealers/brokers
Gigantic task
Inter-market difficulties
Opposition from established interests

Role of Competition: International Perspective
Conclusions

4. PRICE VOLATILITY AND THE MARGINS
  - Basic deficiencies
  - Central regulation of margins
  - Cash and futures market separation
  - Volatility and margins
  - Measuring volatility
  - Significance of half-monthly movements
  - One-half are losers
  - Opening-to-closing price change analysed
  - High-low spread analysed
  - Margin inadequacy
  - Market's integrity not fully safeguarded
5. THE MYTH OF MARKET LIQUIDITY
6. JOBBER'S SPREAD: AN ANALYSIS

PART TWO

RECOMMENDATIONS FOR REFORM

7. RECOMMENDATIONS FOR EXPERT STUDY OF TRADING IN SHARES
  - Terms of reference
  - General
  - Recommendations
    - Settlement period
    - Replacement of the margin system
    - Carry forward (Badla) system
    - Market-making
    - Management information system
    - Governing boards and management
8. RECOMMENDATIONS OF THE HIGH-POWERED STUDY GROUP ON ESTABLISHMENT OF NEW STOCK EXCHANGES

Promotion of the National Stock Exchange

Review of existing stock exchanges: areas of concern

Lack of liquidity

Lack of infrastructure facilities

An inefficient and outdated trading system

An outdated settlement system

Lack of single market

Inadequacy of investor service

Improving investor access to capital markets

The National stock market system

Establishment new stock exchanges

The need for a national stock market system

The concept of national stock market system